WOODLAND

Tanin Stain Remover

Removes Tanin Stains from Carpet

WOODLAND is a specialised commercial tanin stain remover designed for the removal of tanin stains, caused by wooden items, including furniture, and other difficult stains found in carpet, upholstery and also in laundry. Its clever formulation of reactive chemistry and cleansers will actively attack and remove staining that has occurred as a result of timber tanins entering into the carpet or fabric. Whilst WOODLAND is a concentrated and aggressive stain remover it is safe to use on most fabrics, and most coloureds and whites. It should always be tested before general use and a safe dilution rate determined before general use.

FEATURES:

- Hard working cleansers specifically for tanin stains

BENEFITS:

- Remove tanin stains caused by wood furniture or other products.

DIRECTIONS

Always test your solution of WOODLAND on an area of carpet or fabric before general use. To begin with, dilute WOODLAND 1 part with 10 parts water and apply solution to the stain using a spray or squeeze bottle. After a moments dwell time, agitate stain to release it. Rinse with fresh water dabbing with a towel or sponge. If too strong dilute solution further. If not effective, increase dilution rate and re-apply. If stains are still evident repeat the above process at a stronger dilution.
